

Snowpal

Teacher Tips

- To make tracers, cut out a tagboard copy of the hat, mitten, and boot patterns on page 29.
- To eliminate the sharp point at the end of the chenille nose, fold the tip back onto itself.

This jolly fellow is quite a little “carrot-ter”! Display these special snowpals around your classroom to spread cheer to youngsters throughout the day.

Materials (per child)

- hat, mitten, and boot tracers (see Teacher Tips)
- small white paper plate
- large white paper plate
- black construction paper
- orange bumpy chenille section
- buttons
- 15" length of ribbon
- wrapping paper
- markers
- scissors
- glue
- tape
- hole puncher

Directions

- Trace the hat once and the boot twice onto black construction paper. Then trace the mitten twice onto a piece of wrapping paper. Cut out all the shapes.
- Glue the hat onto the small plate to create the snowpal's head.
- Draw eyes and a mouth on the face; then poke one end of the chenille piece through the plate to represent a carrot nose. Bend and tape the inserted end to the back of the head.
- To make the body, glue the mittens and boots onto the large paper plate as shown. Then glue buttons onto the body.
- After the glue dries, punch a hole near the bottom of the head and one near the top of the body. Tie the two sections together with the ribbon.
